CHURCH AND CHINESE

The Lutheran General Synod in Session

ADOPT A SPIRITED RESOLUTION

The California Delegates Made an Unsuccessful Battle Against It.

CANTON, June 2.—The Lutheran synod passed resolutions today that raised the ire of the California delegation, but their numerical strength was not sufficient to defeat it. It was on the Chinese question and reads:

Resolved, That we, the general synod of the Evangelical Lutheran church, respectfully ask the congress of the United States in dealing with the Chinese people, to exhibit a spirit which Christians should show to those who are their neighbors."

THAT AWFUL BRUTE.

He is Recognized by the Women He Assaulted.

LODI, June 2.—Edward James, the negro who so cruelly beat Mrs. Howe on Wednesday evening, had his examination before Judge Wallace today.

He was positively identified by both Mrs. Howe and Miss Beardsley and half a dozen other witnesses, and was held in $5000 bonds to answer before the superior court.

Feeling against the negro was very strong, and but for the presence and prompt action of the sheriff and a constable it is believed he would have been lynched on the spot. He was taken to Stockton to await trial.

TOOK A RIDE.

The Infanta Has a Deep Sea Outing.

NEW YORK, June 2.—The Infanta Eulalie had the Dolphin placed at her disposal, and members of the committee and wives were her guests for the day's outing.

The Dolphin started at once after the Infanta boarded, and as the got abreast of the Infanta Isabell the ship saluted. The United States man-of-war Newark and Minantonomah and the Brazilian Aquidaban fired national salutes.

The Dolphin returned to the city along the north side of the sound, and arrived in the East river at Twenty-sixth street at 4 o'clock.

The Princess and party will leave for Chicago at 12.30 p.m. Monday.

New Text Books.

SACRAMENTO, June 2.—At a meeting of the State Board of Education today W. H. V. Raymond, editor of the state text book series, announced that the advanced geography is in type, and will contain 142 pages. It will take three months to print and bind the 50,000 copies. Five copies of each book of the state series have been forwarded to the World's Fair, together with the maps. It was voted to adopt the same prices for books the ensuing year as charged last. Mr. Raymond was re-elected editor of the state series of text books, and the session was concluded by granting a large number of life and educational diplomas.

Found Guilty.

SAN FRANCISCO, June 2.—An indictment on a charge of embezzlement was found by the grand jury today against Charles E. K. Royce, ex-treasurer of the Veterans' Home Association, who was found short in his accounts $20,000 recently, and who attempted to suicide when exposure was about to be made. FOWLER.

Miss Mattie Barnett Wins the Silver Medal.

From The Republican's Special Correspondent

FOWLER, June 2.- Mr. Wilkins delivered an interesting lecture on "Hard Times" last evening.

The Demeral contest given in the United Presbyterian church was well attended and the program was an exceedingly good one. Miss Mattie Barnett was rewarded with the silver medal, this being the second medal awarded in Fowler. Miss Lena Rose was the winner of the first one.

Every one is preparing for harvest as it will soon be here.

George Witt, formerly of Fresno, is now in the vicinity of Fowler, where he will spend a few weeks.

Jessie Donohoo and father arrived here on Monday evening from Missouri. They are visiting friends and looking up a location.

Mat Rose is preparing to erect a new dwelling on his vineyard east of town.

George Harlan returned from Los Angeles, where he has been the past few weeks on business.

The revival services still continue with great interest, and a large attendance each evening, there being already eighteen additions to the church, and a number of other converts who are undecided as to what church they will unite with.

Pleasant Howard, who resides north of Fresno, was in Fowler on Sunday visiting friends.

Mr. and Mrs. G. E. Burkett, Miss Lulu Harlan and Charles Ritter have returned from the Yosemite valley after an absence of two weeks. They speak of having had a delightful time.

SUNSHINE.

ANDREW CARNEGIE.

A Flattering Tribute Extended by the S. F. Post.

The San Francisco Post has the following to say of Andrew Carnegie:

Mr. Carnegie has always appeared as a dreamer, excepting in his iron business. Endowing schools in the old world, he has cut down wages in the new; presenting libraries to villages in Scotland, he has depopulated towns in America by reductions in the earnings of his vast armies of employes; believing in the principles of Democracy, he has contributed thousands of dollars to the perpetuation of the tenets of the Republican party. In private life he is a Dr. Jekyll; in business a Hyde, and we are of the opinion that if he is sincere in his desire for a grand American-British reunion, which will come when all the nations of the earth speak one language and worship one God, he has reached his conclusions through a careful consideration of his account book.

SUNDAY CLOSING

IS STILL BEING SERIOUSLY CONSIDERED.

The Papal Nuncio Sees the Sights of the White City—Increased Travel.

CHICAGO, June 2.—The weather was cloudy and threatening this morning, but no rain fell up to 1 p.m.

Mсgnr. Satolli, the Papal legate, in company with Archbishop Feehan and other Catholic dignitaries, visited the World's Fair today, driving slowly through the grounds admiring the buildings and then paying a visit to the Monastery of La Rabida.

The Mexican exhibit in the manufacturers' building was formally opened this morning.

Just before the federal court adjourned today in the World's Fair Sunday closing suit, United States Attorney Milchirst asked that in the absence of a permanent decision a restraining order be issued for next Sunday. This was refused. Judge Woods, speaking for the court, said no intimation could be given as to when a decision might be expected.

On behalf of the fair it was urged that if this court should grant the prayer of the petition for an order closing the gates on Sunday the management would have to either disobey that order or the order of the state court, holding that the park being for the recreation and enjoyment of the people, they could not be kept out any day of the year.

The court asked if the logic of this was that no entrance fee could be charged.

The attorney for the fair said no, because of the large amount spent in building the fair, the directory was entitled to charge a fee. This had already been decided in effect.

Attorney High, for the government, produced a report of the dedication exercises of the exposition and read portions of President Higginbotham's address formally transferring the enterprise to the national commission. This, Mr. High asserted, placed the entire exposition in the hands of the government and invested the federal representatives with full power of control.

"What do you think Mayor Harrison meant when he tendered in the name of Chicago the distinguished guests the freedom of the city?" said Judge Woods, referring to the courtesy extended the Duke of Varagua.

The question caused a ripple of laughter, and Attorney High, who was somewhat taken back at the query, said, "Well, of course, this is for your honors to decide."

There is much speculation tonight now that the case is finally in the judges' hands for decision as to when a decision will be rendered. Not a few expect that decision will be announced tomorrow, but such quick action is not generally looked for.

Kansas City—The reduction in the round trip rate to Chicago has already resulted in a big increase of travel to the World's Fair. All trains going there are crowded.

A TARDYSENSATION.

Was Detective Welsh Assassinated With Poison?

About two years ago a detective named John Welsh died in Fresno from poisoning. At the time it was a question whether he had been feloniously poisoned or had administered the potion himself, either by mistake or otherwise.

Since the multiplicity of confessions, counter confessions and reconfessions, accusations and allegations has deluged Fresno, his wife advances the theory that her husband was poisoned by the James-Dillwood gang—and states that a few weeks prior to his death he took dinner at a restaurant with three men and became very sick, but a physician saved him. He again dined with these men in a restaurant the evening of his death. Soon after the meal he was stricken again and soon after died.

A RAISIN EXCHANGE

Formed Yesterday by the Co-operative Companies.

A CONSTITUTION ADOPTED

And a Plan of Procedure Formulated—The Directors Will Be Co-operative Packers.

William Harvey has issued the following letter, together with the following report of the meeting of the co-operative raisin packing companies held yesterday to all the co-operative raisin packing companies in Fresno, Tulare and Kern counties:

"Dear Sirs.—At a meeting held today of the delegates from the co-operative raisin packing companies of Fresno and Tulare counties, resolutions, a copy of which I inclose you, were duly passed. I was instructed to write and ask you to notify me at your earliest convenience, whether your company will assent and cordially co-operate in the formation of the proposed exchange.

"It was distinctly understood at the meeting that the exchange was not to antagonize the commission packer, and thereby create a competition which would lower prices, but rather that all the co-operative companies being welded together in an exchange, might be able as a unit to negotiate with other packers for the purpose of establishing prices, and for mutual protection in all matters pertaining to the marketing and packing of raisins. The commission packers have their organization, and it was felt to be absolutely necessary that the growers, through their co-operative companies, should have theirs.

"The committee to draft bylaws for the proposed exchange will meet at Selma on Monday, June 12th, at 1 o'clock in the Wheatston hotel, and if you have any alterations to suggest, either in the constitution or bylaws, the committee will be glad to see you at Selma, and if you cannot attend, will be pleased to hear from you by letter.

"Yours truly, WILLIAM HARVEY,
"Secretary."

THE MEETING.

Pursuant to a call issued by the representatives of the Producers' Raisin Packing Company, the Traver Packing Company, the Alliance Business Association of Armona, Oleander Raisin Packing Company, Kingsburg Co-operative Raisin Packing Company, Easton Co-operative Raisin Packing Company, and the Lemoore Co-operative Raisin Packing Company, the delegates from the Co-operative Raisin Packing Companies met at 1158 I street, Fresno, on Friday, June 2d, for the purpose of organizing themselves into a co-operative raisin and fruit packers' protective union.

Mr. Harp of the Kingsburg Co-operative Raisin Packing Company was elected chairman.

Mr. Knock, of the Oleander Packing Company, reported that his company considered it desirable that any combination should embrace the whole of the raisin trade, and he submitted a memorial which he suggested should be signed by the co-operative companies, asking the bankers of Fresno city to act as an arbitration committee.

Mr. Parkhurst presented a scheme for a raisin exchange.

Mr. Gass of Traver presented the views of his company which were, that the packers were entirely in the hands of the growers, and if the growers would insist upon the packers maintaining a given price this question of disastrous competition would be once and forever settled.

Mr. Harp submitted proposals for an exchange, which proposals, he said, would have the approval of his company.

It was proposed by Mr. Powers and seconded by Mr. Erickson that it is the sense of this meeting, composed of specially appointed delegates from the various co-operative raisin packing companies of Fresno and Tulare counties, that we form a raisin exchange under the name of The California Raisin and Fruit Exchange.

The following constitution was then considered seriatim and approved:

First—That the capital stock of the exchange be $……, divided into …… shares of $…… each.

Second—Officers: The officers of the exchange shall be a president, vice president, treasurer and secretary.

Third—The exchange shall be governed by a congress of directors from the co-operative raisin packing companies who are members of the exchange, one of whom shall be elected president.

Fourth—Compensation of directors: Each director shall be paid by the company who sends him to represent them on the board of the exchange.

Fifth—Commissions: Each packing company shall pay to the exchange a commission of 5 per cent on all sales made through its agency, but no co-operative company shall be bound to sell exclusively through the agency of the exchange; 2-12 per cent of said commission on all sale shall go to a holdover fund or loan fund, which may be loaned pro rata to the different packing houses at a rate of interest not to exceed 8 per cent. All interest is to become part of the said loan fund; the remaining 2½ per cent of the commission shall be devoted to the expense fund, and from which shall be paid all salaries, rents and other expenses of the exchange, and which shall not at any time exceed the said 2½ per cent. The moneys left over after paying expenses shall be appropriated to the loan fund.

The exchange shall fix a minimum price for the different grades of raisins, and no member shall sell below said fixed price, but such price may be changed at any time by a majority of the directors.

The directors shall not have the power to contract any debt, nor bind any company to any agreement, except as to the price of raisins.

The secretary or manager shall follow the orders of the directors, and shall not have power to act otherwise than as directed by them, under penalty of removal.

Each packing house shall make a semi-weekly or weekly report of the amount of each grade of raisins on hand; such report shall be private and for the use only of the exchange.

The foregoing was then read as a whole and approved.

It was moved by Mr. Parkhurst, of the Producers' Raisin Packing Company, and seconded by Mr. Baird, of the Easton Packing Company, that a printed copy of the foregoing proposed constitution of the Raisin Exchange, be sent to each co-operative packing house in Fresno, Tulare and Kern counties, and that they be invited to approve, amend or reject the same.

Mr. Powers moved and Mr. Gass seconded that the following gentlemen be a committee for the purpose of drafting by-laws for the proposed exchange: D. W. Parkhurst, of the Producers' Raisin Packing Company; Mr. Harp, of the Kingsburg Raisin Packing Company; W. F. Rowell, of the Easton Raisin Packing Company; Mr. Gass, of the Traver Packing Company, and Mr. Knock, of the Oleander Raisin Packing Company. The above were elected unanimously, Mr. Knock intimating that he was afraid he would be unable to accept the position, but the meeting refused to allow him to withdraw.

It was resolved that the committee to prepare the by-laws meet at Selma on Monday, June 12th, at 1 o'clock, at the Whitson hotel.

The meeting then adjourned to meet again at the call of the chair.

W. HARVEY, Secretary.

COMMISSION PACKERS.

Adam Beaver Pays His Disrespects to Them.

EDITOR REPUBLICAN.—Mr. Pike, in his explanation on May 31st, said: "As a packer I am heart and soul in favor of the lines laid down by the Raisin Growers' Association, which I signed and propose to live to, to the letter."

No raisin grower doubts that every commission packer is "heart and soul in favor" of speculating with the growers' raisins and make a snug fortune out of a commercial business transaction in which he, the packer, has no money invested.

Last year the commission packers did not "live to the letter" of the agreement made with the growers, and a majority of the growers have no confidence in the packers' promises this year.

The day is near at hand when the raisin and fruit growers will get along without the services of the commission dealer.

This commission business of selling raisins opens a wide door—from California to Chicago, Boston, New York and other cities—for fraudulent type-written statements and reports of sales.

If my memory is correct, the commission brokers were the first who broke the schedule prices agreed on last year by the growers and packers, and thereby caused the demoralization in the raisin market and great damage and loss to many raisin growers.

EMPLOYES OF THE S. P. AT BAKERSFIELD

Stop Work Because the Company Does Not Pay Up.

BAKERSFIELD, June 2.—Employes of the Southern Pacific Company at this place are on strike because they have not received their pay for April, which they claim was due, under a rule of the company, on May 25th.

The pay car passed through here about 1 o'clock this morning, and not stopping here to pay off seems to be the immediate cause of the trouble.

The paymaster has telegraphed from Los Angeles that he will be here tonight and pay off, after which it is presumed work will go on again.

Mail and passenger trains have not been delayed.

THE world is advancing at any rate. Heretics are not now burned at the stake.

WHATEVER Doctor Briggs' opinion may be about future punishment, now that his church has "fired" him perpetually, he will hardly deny that there is such a thing as hell on earth.

A MAGAZINE writer furnishes an interesting market report of current prices for wild animals, in which he says that "snakes are very much down in the market at present." That may be the ase in some localities, but we know of more than one party who has spent a large fortune for a collection of snakes, and has not more than enough now to fill a pair of boots of ordinary size.

THE Examiner will lay all competitors in the shade by issuing a World's Fair edition of more than 100 pages. The trouble about these big editions is that while they contain much good matter, sandwi hed among paid write ups and other worthless stuff, the state appropriation has been exhausted and we have no funds with which to hire the people to read them. The value of a newspapers of more than a couple of dozen pages consists mostly of the profit realized by the paper mills.

THE Maharajah of Kapurthala, whose wealth is as extensive as his name, is astonishing the people of Cairo, where he has stopped on his way to England, by appearing in public wearing bracelets of pearls as large as pigeon's eggs and heavy necklaces of diamonds and emeralds. That is the very next person to whom this country should extend an invitation to come and receive the worshipful attention of our social democracy. How those New York title worers would enjoy wriggling in the dust before a maharajah covered with pearls and diamonds.

AT the World's Fair Press congress Lafayette Young, president of the Iowa Press association, said that the forty-eight page Sunday paper was too big for anybody to read. It was turning newspaper men into headline fiends, and in twenty years would die a natural death. The model newspaper of the future will be smaller than the average newspaper of today. It will contain all the important news, so condensed that it can be read by the man of business. The mammoth papers now in vogue are not read, and papers suited to the wants of the people will take their place.

SACRAMENTO papers now state, on the authority of a San Jose business man, that the garden city cannot raise more than one-fourth of the $1,000,000 required in the event of the state capital's removal. If this be true, it will be a severe blow both to San Jose and Sacramento. The former place will have made an embarrassing exhibition of herself as an empty bloviator, and Sacramento will be likely to lose her grip on more important industries, and fall back on the old business of absorbing a precarious subsistence from gin-soaked legislatures and other branches of the state government.

WE are accustomed to hear English criticism of the heat and passionate turmoil of American politics, but our conservative cousins are performing some surprising feats just now in the hurling of epithets. "A gang of political desperadoes," upon whom "falseness, dishonor and treason have obtained an infernal hold," is the pleasant phrase used by Lord Randolph Churchill in describing the followers of Gladstone, while he refers to the radical Irish party as a "putrid horror." Salisbury speaks of Gladstone's home rule policy as "insane," and refers to his "faintheartedness, superstition and strategy." The violence of the language used by the Unionists seems to indicate the coming triumph of home rule for Ireland.

AMERICAN citizens have viewed with pride the breakfast order recently made at Chicago by the able President of this country, but when we come to compare his gastronomic record with that of the Emperor of Russia, we will probably have to admit that the representative of monarchial government is considerably in advance of our republican ruler. The gentle ruler of all the Russias is in the habit of eating five square meals per day, and his orders for the lightest are said to lay over the strawberry and beefsteak breakfast upon which Grover braced up before setting the World's Fair in motion. It goes against the grain to admit our inferiority in anything, and it may be that the President touched things a little light on account of the exorbitant rates in vogue in Chicago.

OF the several congresses which have recently assembled in Chicago one of the most interesting, and it is to be hoped one of the most valuable, was the Press congress. This meeting of the molders of public opinion discussed, seemingly, every possible topic connected with journalism, which means that it incidentally considered almost every problem of human progress. So voluminous and varied were the papers and addresses that any summary of their import would be impossible. Nearly every civilized nation was represented, and the characteristics of the journalism of different countries was brought into sharp and interesting contrast.

Such an interchange of opinion and theories between representative workers in journalism will doubtless be a wholesome stimulus to the profession at large. Especially it ought to be of benefit to the country press, a class of newspapers whose number is rapidly growing, and whose influence cannot well be overestimated. Great as is the field of the country newspaper, there are greater fields before it, opened by the lessening cost of its mechanical production. The country journal appeals to the sense of neighborly interest, to the spirit of local pride which is the stimulus of life in towns and villages, and comes into intimate contact with remote and scattered homes where are reared the sinew and the nerve of the masses. The sphere of any one of these country papers may be limited; but taken together as a class they can be made to exert an incalculable force. It is therefore gratifying to note the prominence taken by the rural editors in the discussion at Chicago.

The women of journalism, too, were scarcely less prominent. They illustrated the growing interest which the feminine portion of the average household is taking in daily newspapers and the advancement which has been made in another field of work for women.

VIVEROLS.

[After the poem of that name by David Starr Jordan.]

I had a pair of overalls,
But where they're now I do not know:
Ah me! My memory oft recalls
The way I loafed long, long ago;
I know not where they're at, alas!
They come not when my spirit calls,
But this I know, as sure as grass
Is green, I once wore overalls.

Perhaps some rag-man overhauls
Those well worn, plebian smalls of blue,
Whose color forcibly recalls
Their fit to form and feelings too,
Ere they aspired their knees to bag,
Or to assume a binder sag,
In some "Grande Establissement de Rag,"
Some jennesse doree of overalls.

A Prince's Salary.

The crown prince of Roumania is to have an allowance from his country of £12,000 a year, and his uncle, King Charles, is to give him £12,000. In the event of the crown prince's death, Princess Marie would have a jointure of £12,000 a year, half coming from Roumania and the remainder from King Charles. The prince of Hohenzollern is to make a settlement on his son, and the Duke and Duchess of Edinburgh are to give their daughter an allowance, but she will not receive any dot until after the death of her parents.

It is no secret that there has been a prolonged and not altogether amicable negotiation respecting the settlements which were to be signed at Sigmaringen on the day before the wedding. It is understood that the Prince of Hohenzollern proposes to allow £4,000 a year to Prince Ferdinand, with an ultimate sum of £100,000. Princess Marie is to get £2,000 a year from her parents during their lives, with a sum of £50,000 after they have deceased. This arrangement will permit of a settlement of £150,000 upon the younger children of the marriage.—London Truth.

Eloped Despite His Eleven Children.

William Robinson is the mail contractor carrying mail from Harrodsburg to Antioch. Last November his wife died, and Tuesday afternoon he married again. His first wife bore him 11 children, five of whom are married. He has known his bride only a short while, and she is 30 years his junior, being in her twentieth and he in his fiftieth year.

The children got an inkling of the contemplated marriage and sought to break it off, but the father got ahead of them, got his bride to be and the minister and started for Macksville. The children pursued, the trail got hot, and Robinson's party halted, got out on the roadside, and there he and his love were made man and wife. His bride was Miss Mollie Barnett.—Cor. HORSEMEN DELIGHT IN USING

HALL'S (ANTISEPTIC) CREAM SALVE FOR HORSES,

In that they get immediate effect. This is not a liniment which, if used upon a fresh cut or old sore, aggravates and prolongs the suffering of the poor brute, but it is purely a salve in liquid form. It cools the tender spot; it heals the sore; it is death to flies; it is truly the horseman's friend. One trial will convince you.

DIPLOMAS AWARDED

To High School Graduates Last Evening.

ADDRESS BY D. S. JORDAN

Words of Advice by George E. Church—Flattering Tribute by Professor Heaton.

The front of the stage in the Barton opera house was transformed last evening into a bank of beautiful flowers. Some were tied simply as bouquets, others were tastefully arranged in elaborate baskets, and all bore cards with the name of the young lady or young gentleman graduate for whom they were intended.

The house was filled with an audience as brilliant as the flowers, attired in light and fleecy toilets relieved with bits of bright ribbon or sprays of gaily colored flowers.

On the stage were seated the members of the city Board of Education, Professor T. L. Heaton, David Starr Jordan and Rev. F. D. Mather, of the K-street Methodist church.

The exercises were begun with prayer by Rev. Mr. Mather, after which the chorus "Farewell to the Forest" was sung by the graduating class.

PROFESSOR JORDAN'S ADDRESS.

Then Professor Jordan of Palo Alto was introduced to speak on "The Value of the Higher Education."

The following are extracts from the lecture. It was a masterly production scintillating with brilliant points and will do much towards absolving Professor Jordan from the mortal sin of having written such a jingle as "Viverols."

What I have to say here is addressed to young men and young women. It is a plea, as strong as I know how to make it, for higher education, for more thorough preparation for the duties of life. I know those well to whom I wish to speak. And to such as these, with life and duties in the busy world before you, the best advice I or any one can give is this, "Go to college."

It may do many things for you if you are made of the right stuff, for you cannot fasten a $2000 education to a 50-cent boy. The fool, the dude and the shirk come out of college pretty much as they go in. They dive deep in the Pierian springs, as the duck dives in the pond, and they come up as dry as the duck does.

So if you learn to use it rightly, this the college can do for you: It will bring you in contact with the great minds of the past, the long roll of those who through the ages have borne a mission to young men and young women, from Plato to Emerson, from Homer and Euripides to Schiller and Browning. Your thoughts will be limited, not by the narrow gossip of today, but the great men of all ages and climes will become your brothers. You will learn to feel what the Greeks called the consolation of philosophy; to turn from the petty troubles of the day to the thoughts of the masters is like going from a dog fight in the gutter through the door of a cathedral.

The college can bring you face to face with the great problems of nature. You will learn from your study of nature's laws more than the books can tell you of the grandeur, the power, the omnipotence of God.

The ideal college professor should be the best man in the community. He should have about him nothing mean or paltry or cheap.

A man is always so much more the man nature meant him to be when his mind is trained. The educated man has the courage of his convictions, because only he has any real convictions. He knows how convictions should be formed. What he believes he takes on his own evidence, not because it is the creed of his church, or the platform of his party. So he counts as a unit in his community, and is never reckoned as part of the dozen or hundred.

Lack of ambition means failure from the start. The young man who is rusting at nothing and cares not to rise is already dead. There is no hope for him. Only the sexton and the undertaker can serve his purpose.

If you pay to yourself, I will be a naturalist, a traveler, a historian, a statesman, a scholar; if you never unsay it, if you bend all your powers in that direction and take advantage of all those aids that help toward your ends and reject all that do not, you will some time reach your goal. The world turns aside to let any man pass who knows whither he is going.

It is not worth while to be born with a silver spoon in your mouth when a little effort will secure you a good one.

I said just now that you cannot put a $2000 education on a 50-cent boy. This has been tried again and again. It fails almost every time. What of that? It does not hurt to try. A few hundred dollars is not much to spend on such an experiment.

But what shall we say of a man who puts a 50-cent education on a $10,000 boy and narrows and cramps him throughout his after life? And just this is what ten thousand parents in California today are doing for their sons and daughters.

"For a man to have died who might have been wise and was not," says Carlyle, "this I call a tragedy."

But in the rank and file it is true that the educated men get the best salaries. In every field, from football to statesmanship, it is always science that wins the game. Brain work is higher than hand work and it is worth more in any market. The man with the mind is the boss, and the boss receives a larger salary than the hands whose work he directs.

There is always room at the top! All our professions are crowded in America, but the crowd is around the bottom of the ladder!

One of the besetting sins of American life is its willingness to call very little things by very large names—its tolerance of imposition and fraud. It is the mission of the scholar in each profession to combat fraud, to show men "facts amid appearance," to say that a pogun is a pogun, though every one else may be calling it a cannon! As one country grows older, perhaps the number of bladders will diminish. If not, let us have more pins!

Buildings, departments, museums, courses, libraries, catalogues, names, numbers, rules and regulations do not make a university; it is the men who teach. Go where the masters are, in whatever department you wish to study.

Unpractical, pedantic and fossilized, though the average professor may be, his heart is in the right place. He is keeping the torch burning that the young men and young women of the twentieth century may carry to the mountains' top.

Poets sing because their souls are full of music, not because they have learned the gamut of passion in a college.

In speaking of a man who was employed at a half dollar a day to drive a cow to pasture and watch her there, the Professor said: "If it were not for that cow the man and the half dollar would be of no earthly use to the world."

In education America is still the paradise of quacks. In law the woods are full of shysters and pettifoggers. The catalogues of some of our schools read like the advertisements of our patent medicines. The name of "university" in America is assumed by every cross roads academy, and the name of professor is taken by the pugilist, the bootblack, the barber and the manager of the skating rink.

The great teacher never fails to leave a great mark on every young man and young woman with whom he comes in contact.

After Professor Jordan's address a quartet selection was sung by Hal Freeman, Walter Ferguson, Agnes Helm and Belle Ritchie.

Professor Thomas L. Heaton of the high school called attention to the fact that this was the third class to graduate from the Fresno high school, and was the first that took the entire work of the high school—its four years' training.

The work has been well done, and they well merit the diplomas that they will receive from your hands. Our requirement in Fresno for graduation is 80 per cent, but our standard for recommendation to college is 90 per cent. Each member of this class has asked for a recommendation to college, either to Stanford or to the University of California.

AWARDING THE DIPLOMAS.

George E. Church, president of the Board of Education, then proceeded to award the diplomas to the graduates. He prefaced this ceremony with the following remarks:

"Graduation from our public schools of this score and more of young men and women is an event of such interest and of such moment, so far as the city of Fresno is concerned, as certainly not only to justify this large attendance of interested friends and citizens, but to justify also the presence of the chief educator of the state of California and those words of wisdom, counsel and direction to which you have had the pleasure of listening this evening.

For me, or for any one, for that matter, to attempt to add anything to those words, would be as superfluous as it would be presumptuous, and I cannot undertake to do it. The Board of Education have the right, however, to assume and believe that those students who are presented here for graduation have in the years of work which they have done in our public schools, educated themselves at least to this extent: They have gained some real definite idea of what the work of education consists, [illegible] and sustaining that work. That is all that we can hope or expect to do. You will receive from my hands in behalf of the Board of Education these simple testimonials of your present attainments. Take them and carry them with you, and never by any word or act of yours stultify or give the lie to anything that may be contained or implied therein.

The diplomas were then presented to the following:

Literary course—Albert L. Munger, A. Clyde Olney, Irma St. John, Agnes Inez Helm, Isabella T. Ritchie, F. Harold Freeman, Walter Ferguson.

Scientific course—Emma Belle Harmon, Alice C. Woods, Delia Allen Kimball, Frank A. Homan, Cleora A. Worth, Matie M. Stone, Harry D. Rowell, William R. Monroe, Vetal B. Fincher, Arthur S. King.

Business course—Roy Denny, Sara McCardle, Virginia E. Morgan, Bessie Ashman.

SOLOMON'S STORY.

It is Declared False by Members of the Foresters.

Members of the Foresters who were present at the time of the recent altercation between Martin Solomon and Bruce Goodrich declare that Solomon's story, as told to a reporter of this paper yesterday, is false and misleading, and does injustice to the local lodge. They declare that the statements of the affair as made by Solomon are untrue, with the single exception that he was struck by Goodrich after they had come out of the lodge room, from which he sustained a fractured jaw, and that the assault was provoked by the application of the vilest of epithets to Goodrich. It is denied positively that any one else struck him or injured him in any manner. In regard to the action of Deputy Constable Welty it is positively denied that he had insulted Solomon, but on the contrary that the insulting language had been used by the latter.

It is stated that the whole matter will be thoroughly investigated by the order, and that the state of the facts which will be shown will relieve the lodge of the imputations made in Solomon's statement.

CATHOLIC LADIES.

A Reception in the Parlors of the Y.M.I.

Mrs. Joseph W. Egan assisted by Mrs. Woods, Misses Avila, Duquesne, Fahey, Featherstone, the Misses Galligan and other members of the Catholic Ladies' Union Society received their friends last Thursday night in the parlors of the Young Men's Institute.

Miss Cinnie Baldwin gave a well played piano selection, followed by Miss Avila in a song. Miss Josie Fahey was encored for her playing of a piano solo. Miss Avila gave a selection on the mandolin, accompanied by her niece, Rosita Purdy. Mr. and Miss Avila sang a duet very prettily, and Mrs. Egan gave a recitation.

Among those present were Mrs. H. H. Welsh, Mrs. Judge Harris, Mrs. Duquesne, Mr. and Mrs. Mayne, Mr. and Mrs. Robson, Mr. and Mrs. Weaver, Mr. and Mrs. Kavanaugh, Mr. and Mrs. Barrett, the Misses Peckham, Miss Geisey, Major Chisholm, W. A. Abbey, T. Malone, Henry Avila, Clarence L. Fein, H. W. Clinch and James Gallagher.

An Insane Hospital Patient.

Some days ago a man was examined before Judge Holmes upon a charge of lunacy, and it was decided that it was a case requiring medical treatment and not a serious case of mental disturbance.

This afternoon the steward telephoned in that the man had become violent and Dr. Maupin sent a deputy sheriff out to bring the patient in as he was smashing the furniture. He will be examined today.

PRECOCIOUS POISONER

He Plans His Stepfather's Death.

LITTLE GEORGE WITHERS' STORY

Claims That Others Induced Him to Put Poison in the Food.

George L. Withers was brought down from Letcher yesterday and lodged in jail upon a charge of administering poison with intent to kill his stepfather, John W. Rogers.

He is a rather prepossessing boy of 10 years with a steady, grayish-blue eye, and intelligent face. His head is large and well proportioned and his general manner is that of frankness and intelligence.

In answer to questions about the occurrence, he said:

I put the poison in the rice. That was last Monday. I did it because John Couzine and the Indians told me to do it. Last Saturday four Indians met me up the creek where I was herding the cattle. One of them pointed a shotgun at me and told me that if I did not give my stepfather poison he would shoot me. They were about half drunk.

I was afraid of them ever since I was shot at by an Indian a good while ago. I was coming home from school and ran across an Indian lying down. He was drunk, and when I touched him he raised up and shot at me but missed me.

These Indians would get drunk and come around Rogers' place, and he had licked several of them with clubs and drove them off, and they were mad at him for that, and that was what they said they wanted me to kill him for.

John Couzine did not like him either, and wanted me to give him poison. A good while ago my stepfather whipped me several times with a quirt. He could thrash me around the legs pretty hard with the quirt about things that did not please him about the place. Couzine wanted me to kill him for that. I suppose he thought that if I killed my stepfather he could get away with some of the cattle.

The Indians live up above our place quite a ways. One of them is called Indian Bob that Rogers licked. I do not know the names of the ones that threatened me Saturday.

My stepfather has not been whipping me lately, not since mother died. My mother and sister are at uncle's. I have a grandmother up there. I don't know her name, only its grandma."

He further stated that he had been out down here to go to school, and did not seem to appreciate the heinous character of his offense. His story was told frankly without show of feeling toward his intended victim. The poison which he put into the pot of rice was strychnine, and in quantity sufficient to destroy a regiment.

An examination of the jail record shows that one John Couzine was sentenced by Justice of the Peace Cummings of Sanger to serve fifty days in the county jail on a conviction of petit larceny. He was received April 7, 1893, and discharged May 27th last. It was stated that he is the person referred to by the boy, but whether that is true or not could not be ascertained.

THE GOVERNOR TALKS.

The Executive Interviewed While in San Francisco.

Governor Markham attended the Memorial Day services in San Francisco, and while in that city was interviewed by a Chronicle reporter, in the course of which he discussed the state capital movement, the reward for Sontag and Evans, and the question of pardons. In regard to the former he said:

"No one doubts that it will benefit San Jose, but the question is, 'Will it benefit the state?'" And he added: "I never heard yet of any one refusing to run for office because the capital was at Sacramento. There might be such a man, but if so I have not heard of him."

As to Sontag and Evans, he said, discussing the chances of their capture:

"They'll get them yet," alluding to the officers. "Sooner or later their career will come to an end. I presume the bandits will have to be killed first; that is to be supposed. But the $12,000 or such a matter that is offered, all told, will fetch them. It's a big reward, and there are plenty of men who will continue after them. In time they will bring them in. That is certain.

"Now, it has been suggested that I increase the reward from this state, but I do not think it is necessary. The amount quoted is enough to get them. From what I hear it is evidently their intention to intimidate everybody, but this cannot last always."

In the matter of pardons, the Governor said:

"You understand that I have a great many applications for pardon. I suppose I have a couple of hundred of them in the office all the time. I always endeavor to find out all about a prisoner under such circumstances, what is said against him as well as for him, and then I forward all the papers I have to the commissioners. I never indicate what my opinion may be, for I want them to act independently. They are very careful. There are five men, and they are all good.

"When the papers come back from them, if I think the man should be pardoned I do it. I always try to find out the former history of the man, whether he has hitherto lived a straight life, and whether it is his first offense. If it is, then I am the more inclined to consider the matter, especially if there are palliating circumstances. But if the man has all along had a bad record I think it is best to keep him where he is. He is safer there than outside, and the safety of the people ought to be considered."

Governor Markham said he had just appointed Dr. Matthews of Tehama to take the place on the California World's Fair commission vacated by ex-Lieutenant Governor Daggett, appointed superintendent of the mint, and added that he thought he would prove a good official.

DEARDORFF'S OPINION.

WHAT HE SAYS OF THE FRESNO COUNTY EXHIBIT.

The California Exhibit Will be the Best State Exhibit at The Fair.

A letter from Dr. A. G. Deardorff, dated at Chicago, May 28th, to a friend in this city, contains the following:

"I went to the California state building yesterday, and it was grand, excepting a little delayed in construction. It is a mammoth building, and will be the pride of California when finished.

It will bring hundreds and thousands of people to our state. As one stands in this place you can answer hundreds of anxious questions from people who are interested in our grand state. We undoubtedly have the most wonderful climate, soil and productions of any place on earth.

Our exhibits in the agricultural and horticultural and our state building are wonderful. Oregon and Washington, too, are alive to their own interests, but our state has appropriated a good sum, and while we are now a little behind, we will have a grand exhibit.

There is no use of the Pacific Coast newspapers speaking light of our California exhibit, for we are well represented here. Our representatives have worked hard and have not had enough workmen.

Our own county is about in line and nearly finished. Miss Boyd is sick, but has her sister, Mrs. Northcraft, in the work with her. Mr. Collier was busy yesterday with the small sample exhibit in horticultural hall. Mr. Wilson I found sick and feeling badly, but, I think, in a few days will be well.

The Fresno exhibit has a good place. The fruit has kept nicely, but some of it has turned brown with the preserving fluid. The raisin vineyard is well represented and many fine displays are on hand. San Diego county has a fine display, but it cannot compare with that of Fresno. When you see any paper poking fun at the California exhibit simply say they do not know what they are talking about. Within one month the California exhibit will be considered the best state exhibit here.

WHAT JOHN HERN SAYS

He Did Not Bribe the Constable.

HOW HE FOUND THAT HARNESS

He Has Been in Terror of the James-Dillwood Gang for Months.

THE REPUBLICAN is in receipt of the following statement from John D. Hern, who stands sentenced to fifteen years' hard labor in Folsom, with regard to the alleged bribing of a deputy constable in the James case, when the latter was prosecuted for stealing harness:

FRESNO, June 1.

EDITOR REPUBLICAN: I, the undersigned, wish to say through your columns that no one connected with Johnnie Ashman's office never did give nor offer me a key in any shape, form or fashion belonging to the Fiske building, nor did I ever have a key that belonged to the office or building of the Fiske block, nor any one ever offer me a key to the same. Yours respectfully,

J. D. HERN.

Upon receipt of this a representative of THE REPUBLICAN called upon Hern at the jail, and found a slight built man about five feet seven inches in hight and about 54 years of age. He has a deep gunshot scar under his right eye, and says he "has been shot to pieces considerably" in other parts of his body.

Hern, according to his own statement, has found the voyage of life tempestuous, and has a record behind him that has proved detrimental in his present care. This fact he says was taken advantage of by the James-Dillwood gang to make him do their bidding or keep his mouth shut.

He claims that this is the gang that has been devastating the poultry yards of the colonies, and says that he purchased hundred of fowls of them at $4 per dozen and sold them openly to the hotels at $5, or shipped them to San Francisco. He says that he never stole any fowls himself nor put up any jobs of that kind with the gang.

He also states that James had boasted to him that he had never labored in his life and never intended to. He says that James robbed Mrs. Musick's house out beyond Temperance colony of canned fruit, preserves, catsup, etc., and used the stuff on the table when Hern boarded there and was accustomed to brag on it, saying that Mrs. Musick's fruit, or catsup, was better than what one got in the market.

With regard to the harness that was stolen out of Justice Prince's office and buried north of town, he knew nothing of himself at the time James was being prosecuted for stealing the harness. James afterwards told him that he had paid Deputy McDonald $8 down to get the key and had removed and buried it. Hern says that he has not the physical strength to carry the harness had he been so disposed.

James afterward talked of going into Mariposa county, or up north to dispose of the harness and told Hern that he wanted him to get the harness and ship it to him when he wrote for it. James told him to go to the culvert, from a certain point step out two and one-half steps into the road and then five steps along the road in another direction, and then dig down and get the box.

He said he had never been there after James told him where it was until he went with Sheriff Scott. When they first dug down there did not strike the box as they did not get the measurements correct, but after a little digging they found it.

He made some other disclosures with the promise that they should not be made public at present, which indicates that he means to tell all he knows. He says he wanted to make a clean breast of this a year ago, but was afraid of the gang which had him in their power. Had he done so he would not have been, as he claims, unjustly convicted. He says he has done enough, but is not guilty to any degree of the crime of which he stands convicted, not even of guilty knowledge until after the cow was stolen.

BICYCLING.

Fresno Wins the Third Place in the Contest.

A party of bold bicyclists took a run out Cherry avenue last Thursday night for about four miles and returned by way of Fig avenue. While halting for rest at Mrs. Bernhard's orchard the party ate a twenty-pound box of cherries.

The riders were Professor Cooke, A. C. Banks, E. M. Thompson, H. B. Goodman, W. N. Thorpe, Charles L. Hill, Emory Day, Charles Reed and John Walters.

W. A. Dexter, of this city, came in third best in the bicycle two-mile-race in Alameda last Tuesday for the state championship. Foster was first and Wells second. Foster's time was 5.37 3-5.

Eleven Meal Tickets.

Eleven strange men out of employment nodded familiarly to the stuffed wildcat in the office of the Associated Charities yesterday and received meal tickets. Some of them were furnished with employment on ranches.

A Discussion Over White Cats.

"Yes," said the man by the window, who overheard our conversation, "it's true every time, gentlemen, that white cats are deaf."

"Prove it," said one of the party who had been disputing the theory.

"I can prove it as easy as rolling off a log. My old aunt down in the state of Maine raised a white cat, and she's alive and kicking yet, for's I know—the cat, not my aunt—and she told me—my aunt, not the cat—that the animal was so deaf she could not hear the clock strike—fact."

"That's nothing," said a man on the other side of the car who had been listening intently. "It don't prove that the hull race of white cats is deaf. Why, we had a white cat in our family—raised it myself—and it heard so well we had to stop the clock."

There was a long silence; then some one piped feebly:

"Why?"

"Because she thought every tick was a mouse in the wall, and she tore all the wall paper off trying to get at it."

No one said a word for about an hour; then the man who knew white cats were deaf spoke out:

"Boys," he said solemnly, "give him the belt."—Detroit Free Press.

Gifts For the Sick.

"It is difficult to tell from outward conditions," says a constant visitor of the sick and suffering, "just what will bring most pleasure to an invalid. I took jelly, fruit and wine to a destitute consumptive whose appetite needed encouraging, without provoking a grateful smile. But when I followed a chance confession that she was fond of flowers with a bunch of white hyacinths her face glowed with happiness. I tried the flowers on a cultured well to do blind woman of my acquaintance. She scarcely noticed them, but the dainties that the ignorant girl had refused the lady fell upon with the voracity of a wolf."

This philanthropist neglected to take into consideration in her work that all important factor in the relief of suffering—what part decay has preyed upon. In the case of the consumptive, disease had consumed the vital nature past desire to the greater quickening of the spiritual. On the other hand, the blind woman's appetite was stimulated to abnormal activity by the infirmity that shut her off from the sights which promote the soul's growth.—New York Times.

Protecting Turpentine Forests.

Turpentine farmers in South Carolina and Georgia protect their property against loss by fire in summer by burning the grass and underbrush in mid-winter. The turpentine land is thus protected by the destruction in advance of such light material as feeds a forest fire, and the woodlands are made up of tall pine trees standing in tracts free from small timber and undergrowth. When spring opens the fresh young grass puts forth from the ashes of the winter fires, and the ground is soon covered with a carpet of rich green.—New York Sun.

A Man Who Loves Flowers.

For several years past a well known gentleman has been in the habit every morning of standing in front of a Fourth street florist's place for at least 15 minutes. He is a crank on flowers, and after gazing into the window he enters the store and purchases a 10-cent flower. He tells the proprietor that he loves to chew the flower, and nine mornings out of ten he gets a rose. The gentleman in question is a Tennessean and is the possessor of one of the finest hothouses in the city.—Cincinnati Enquirer.

Oldest Tree In the World.

The Rev. W. Tuckwell, in "Tongues and Trees and Sermons In Stones," says: "The oldest living tree in the world is said to be the Sema cypress of Lomberdy. It was a tree 50 years before the birth of Christ." But Alphonse Karr, in his "Voyage Autour de Mon Jardin," says, of the baobab (Adansonia digitata), "It is asserted that some exist in Senegal that are 5,000 years old."—Notes and Queries.

The Duties of the Nurse.

"Aren't you a big boy to have a nurse?" asked an elderly gentleman of a boy whom he had met in the park.

"Oh, no," said the lad. "She doesn't look after me anyhow. She's here to take care of the boys I play with and see that I don't hurt 'em."—Harper's Young People.

Good Out of Evil.

"This ought to be a prosperous month," said the club treasurer.

"How so?" asked the secretary.

"House-cleaning," was the answer, "and the men'll all be here."—Life.

The most costly piece of railway line in the world is that between the Mansion House and Aldgate stations in London, which required the expenditure of close upon $10,000,000 a mile.

"It's Pure and Sure."

It is a great thing to have a perfectly pure and wholesome baking powder, the ingredients of which are plainly printed on every label, so that any one may know what he is eating. Such is Cleveland's Superior Baking Powder,—it is pure.

It is a great thing, when a loaf of cake or a pan of biscuit is put into the right sort of an oven, to be always sure that it will come out just right.

Such is the case every time if you use Cleveland's Superior Baking Powder,—it is sure.

CRAZY J. C. MANSFIELD

TAKES ROOMS AT SHERIFF SCOTT'S BEANERY.

Reminiscences of the Champion Prison Polisher of the Pacific Coast.

Yesterday morning early Officer Wood came across "Crazy" Mansfield in an almost helpless condition from sprained intellect, so he took him by the breath and dragged him up to jail.

This morning charges were preferred against him for vagrancy and for disturbing the peace. As soon as he gets over the effects of a heavy spell of condensing booze he will be submitted to the reforming influences of Justice Austin's court.

Few characters are so well known throughout the state as Old Mansfield. He boasts an intimate acquaintance with nearly all the county prisons in the state and indulges in critical comparisons of their relative styles of grub and treatment.

About six years ago he perpetrated a laughable practical joke on the prisoners in the old jail here, now used as the recorder's office. He was thrown into the jail corridor as drunk and disorderly after the other prisoners were locked up. A light in Chinatown called the deputies away, leaving the jail without a guard.

The prisoners began to chaff him and finally played the great joke of throwing their shoes at him through the wickets of their cells. Mansfield growled at them until he got the entire stock of shoes and then gathered them up, put them into the stove and burned up the entire outfit, to the great discomfiture of the owners thereof.

The prisoners became very wrathy and in hair-curling language promised to thump the life out of him as soon as they were turned loose the next morning.

"You will, boy?" said Mansfield, as he gathered up the hose used for washing the concrete floor of the jail. "Well, I guess I'll let you hoboes know who's running this jail!" and he turned a full head of water on and going from cell to cell proceeded to douse them with cold water. When Sheriff Meade arrived old Mansfield was playing the hose in great style, the floor was covered three inches deep with water and the prisoners were thoroughly drenched—clothes, bedding and all.

The prisoners had to mop the water out into the drain and sit up all night by the fire to keep from freezing. Before the sheriff let the drenched prisoners out he took the precaution to lock Mansfield up in the dark cell to keep the prisoners from killing him. He was kept there three days in order to let their belligerent tempers cool down, and then the sheriff turned him out with the others.

No sooner had the sheriff left the jail than the whole posse—about fifteen of them, jumped him, and before the sheriff could get into the jail to rescue him, Old Mansfield had comfortably licked the entire outfit save one, who had climbed on top of one of the cells in terror of his life, and Mansfield had him by the leg trying to pull him down in order to maul him.

Two or three of them had to have their heads patched up, and Sheriff Meade, seeing it was utterly impossible to protect his charges from the blood-thirsty Mansfield, made him a trusty and kept him at outside work, where he would glare at them through the gates and swear he would eat them up if he ever got back inside.

Chicago Girls at the Theaties.

It is form now in Chicago for girls to take off their hats at the theater. At the Duse performance one Saturday afternoon the audience was intensely fashionable, and at least 10 women in the parquet removed their hats, placed them in their laps, patted their locks in a manner not unlike the great Duse herself, and then sat in placid contentment, assured that they were attracting much attention and had carried out the latest fad.—Exchange.

A Mother's Will Found a Way.

Although she had neither money nor friends and her 2-year-old baby was dead, Mrs. George Leganza of West Hazelton, Pa., did not despair. She made a neat shroud of her own garments for her child, and then built a rude coffin from some old lumber which she found in the cellar of her neat but unhappy home. Two weeks ago her husband left her, presumably to seek work, and nothing has since been heard of him.—Chicago Women's News.

The Lamp Fad Carried Too Far.

Lamps are the prettiest means of lighting, but why turn our rooms into lamp shops? I know a young married woman who glories in the awful fact that she has 14 lamps in her drawing room. Each of these lamps is shaded with an abnormal monstrosity in the way of paper ballet skirts, rag flowers and other trash, until art is killed with vulgar quantity and conflagration imminent.—

A Prominent Contractor's Indorsement.

LOS ANGELES, Cal., Feb. 28, 1893.

GENTS.—Years of recent date is at hand and contents noted. I gave your catarrh cure a testimony last October in regard to how long I had catarrh and how I was cured, but will gladly give another and make affidavit to it before a Notary Public, but I wish to make a change in my former statement, as I see you have me quoted as having had it for eight years while I had it for twelve, and have suffered as only one afflicted can suffer. I was cured by your catarrh cure after having been under treatment with some of the noted physicians and specialists in New York and San Francisco, and receiving only temporary relief from them. I am a contractor and builder in this city and for the last three months have been tunneling a tunnel for the city which necessitated my being in the water for about eight hours a day, and after all of this I have no symptoms of return of the catarrh, and am thoroughly convinced the cure is permanent. I take pleasure in telling any and all inquiries what your catarrh cure has done for me.

J. J. MAHONEY.

My complaint was Palsy of the worst kind, and constipation of the bowels, which resisted all treatment and baffled the skill of many physicians. The Specialist, Dr. Brown, has cured me of both, and you bet I'm a happy man and most grateful to this eminent physician.
